Delivered to 175-250 schools in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts every year (approximately 100,000 children per year). These numbers do not include the hundreds of schools nationwide that utilize the Curricula I have authored (above). Bullying Prevention Program includes the following:

 - original research-based training program for teachers and support staff in K-12 schools;
 - development of materials to aid administrations in K-12 schools in developing effective anti-bullying policy;
 - developed program at BSU to train undergraduate students as facilitators, who in turn train adolescent students in Middle & High Schools to lead effective violence-prevention programs in their own schools;
 - development of community, family, and parental education materials and presentations, designed to engage local school parents and community groups to assist schools in effectively addressing bullying behaviors in children.
